The City of Brandon.

Brandon, famed for many years as the "Wheat City", and now considered one of the most progressive cities in the Dominion, is admirably situated on the south bank of the Assiniboine, 133 miles from Winnipeg. The Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern railways, with their branches radiating from Brandon, make it a most important railway centre and the business of the city is consequently great, out of proportion to its size. The population is now about 7250 and it is steadily increasing.

Anyone, who in the early eighties, gazed upon the collection of tents which alone marked the site then, would be astounded if they could see at the present time what has sprung from this humble nucleus. Long business streets, lined with stately and well-appointed stores that would be a credit to any centre, groups of well equipped factories, including saw-mills, flour-mills, the woolen mill, binder twine, and cigar factories, breweries, machine works, brick works, etc., are a revelation of what Western energy can accomplish. There are many public institutions such as the Experimental Farm, Indian Industrial School, the General Hospital, the Insane Asylum, etc., located here and the fine churches, colleges and schools lend an air of solid dignity. The public school system is particularly good, there being four splendid schools, costing over $100,000. Up to date water-works, sewage and electric light systems and most adequate fire protection go to make living in Brandon both comfortable and safe. No one, in fact, could fail to be taken with the city as a residential place. In summer time particularly, the beautifully shaded pavements and boulevards are most attractive.

Of the great annual Exhibition, we have not space to say much. When we say that it has been a wonderful success, financially and in every other way, from the first, we are doing it scant justice. It must be seen to be appreciated.

The C. P. R. has lately made vast additions to its facilities here. A new roundhouse costing $60,000, a large annex to the station, the extension of the yards (making a total of 17 miles of track in the city) and other works, have entailed a total expenditure of $219,000. 329 men are employed and the pay-roll is about $32,000 per month. The C. N. R. is also contemplating great improvements in the near future.

From this short review it will at once be seen that the city of Brandon is worthy of the greatest attention and under such favorable conditions, its future is bound to be bright indeed.
